Honours Baccalaureate Degree | 4 years

Gain the skills you need to excel in fast-paced marketing organizations.

Learn modern strategies from industry professionals

Marketing isn't just about promotions and ads. Learn how to build a marketing plan through market research, marketing strategy and working in tandem with all areas of a business. Sheridan's marketing instructors bring passion and industry experience into the classroom while ensuring curriculum is constantly updated to meet current industry demands.

Specialize or diversify your marketing knowledge

In the first two years of your studies, you'll build a solid foundation in general business fundamentals. Beginning in Year 3, you can choose from a range of electives, allowing you to specialize in one area of marketing or branch out across various fields. You'll also put your new skills to work during a mandatory internship and optional co-op.

Collaborative and hands-on learning

Today's work world has changed. Top employability skills now include critical thinking, collaboration across networks and leading by influence, communication and entrepreneurship. Our small classes and experiential learning approach promote the development of these skills through constant interaction with your professors and peers.
