A nursing degree that is forward-thinking, student-centred and hands-on.

Intraprofessional learning to create a healthier nursing community

This degree reimagines what nursing education should be, helping you understand the valuable roles that both Registered Practical Nurses (RPNs) and Registered Nurses (RNs) play in our health-care system. You'll first learn entry-to-practice competencies required of both RPNs and RNs, then build on that knowledge to master advanced competencies RNs need to care for unstable and complex patients.

Apply your skills in the classroom and in the field

Graduate with nearly 1,600 hours of real-world experience. This is the first nursing degree program in Ontario to include two consolidation preceptored placements, sharpening your skills after your fourth and eighth semesters. Our nursing labs also use high-fidelity mannequins and Lumeto virtual simulation software to ensure you enter the workforce ready to care for patients.

Develop leadership, communication and resilience skills

In each year of your studies, you'll earn certificates that are valued by employers and could help you advance in your career more quickly.

Career opportunities

As a graduate of Sheridan's Honours Bachelor of Science – Nursing degree, you'll be eligible to write the College of Nurses of Ontario (CNO) NCLEX licensing exam and work as a Registered Nurse in settings such as hospitals, long-term care, public health and the community.
